King Honors Miss Osborne Mrs. Banks

Congratulations to the recipients of the King's Jubilee Medals in Lacombe—Miss Osborne, Matron of Lacombe Hospital, who has seen service in the great war in England, France and India, and Mrs. Banks, one of Alberta's outstanding teachers, whose school, Mountain Grove has the highest record of any rural school in the Province, received this special honor last week.

Recipients of the King's Jubilee medals will prize them highly, for they are in a very special sense a personal memento from His Majesty. He not only designated the basis upon which persons to be honored were selected, but is also supplying the medals himself. They were minted upon the King's instructions and paid for out of his private purse.

The Ottawa correspondent of the Toronto Mail and Empire reveals an incident which occurred while the lists were being prepared. It appears His Majesty advised the Canadian government that he wished to recognize especially the indomitable resolution and courage which certain blind and maimed veterans have shown in re-establishing themselves in civil life. Accordingly, by his command communicated through Ottawa, the five Canadian veterans associations selected from their membership cases which fell within the category defined by the King. A slight difficulty arose. Many of the men nominated had been wholly incapacitated. They had been in military hospitals dependent upon nurses and were unable to stand and walk, or if not in hospitals had had to depend on similar attention in their homes. Respectfully they stated that if those whose services had made their rehabilitation possible could not share in the honor, it would be impossible for them to accept it. The difficulty was explained to His Majesty by cable and the King immediately wired back his complete acquiescence in the veterans' viewpoint and ordered that such attendants were to be included in the honors list.

Broadly speaking, those who receive the Jubilee medals have been selected on the basis of service. Although it is estimated that 10,000 Canadians will be honored, these will be representatives of the various types of service to country or community. Civil servant of thirty years standing means that light-house keepers and charwomen in Ottawa, along with deputy ministers and department heads will receive the King's Jubilee badge of fidelity. Matrons and superintendents of all hospitals, large or small, are receiving the medal. Primary teachers who have served for many years are included. Workers in the Red Cross, Boy Scout and Girl Guide organizations and others similarly of a nation-building character are being honored. Heads of church and state, all legislators and so on, are included, but not a single medal is being awarded on political grounds or because someone happens to have "pull" with the government. That is worth while remembering.

COMMUNICATION

Editor, Western Globe,
Lacombe, Alberta.

Dear Sir:

The writer who wrote the article entitled "Sunday Sport" in your last issue of the Western Globe, stated that, "if pure, clean sport interferes with the Sunday School, the Sunday School hours can be changed."

This suggests a number of questions to my mind.

Now, if Sunday sport interferes with the Sunday school in the morning, the Sunday School session can be held in the afternoon. If sport interferes with Sunday School in the afternoon, then the Sunday School can be held in the morning. But if sport interferes with the Sunday School both morning and afternoon, I would like to ask the writer of "Sunday Sport," to kindly let us know at what time on the Lord's Day could the Sunday School lesson be taught.

Is sport, even, "clean and pure," so superior to Sunday School in the moral and spiritual development of the child that it should take the precedence over Sunday School on the Lord's Day?

Did Sunday Sport help to develop the bodies of children physically, and their minds morally and spiritually before the first Sunday School in England in the 18th century.

I wonder in what cities, or towns those fortunate persons who have hockey rinks next to their churches, and a parochial tennis court across the street are ministering? There may be such fortunate persons, but I have failed to find any yet on either side of the International Boundary line, not even in Lacombe. However, never having had the pleasure of visiting Montreal, I am willing to take the word of the Writer, that some parents "as a hockey rink and a parochial tennis court," in the Eastern city. We who minister in the towns and villages can call ourselves fortunate if we possess a car of more or less ancient vintage to help us in our pastoral work.

With the best of wishes,

Fred Lister

Twenty-Five Years a King

Many sovereigns have reigned much longer than King George the Fifth, the anniversary of whose accession a quarter of a century ago was celebrated on Monday. But there has been no more momentous period in the history of the world and of the British realm than that since he ascended to the crown. It is because this is so and because the great part that his Majesty has played throughout these years of intense struggle and of far-reaching changes in human destinies that his subjects are throwing themselves with such wholeheartedness into doing honor to the man and to the occasion.

His throne has stood like a rock when similarly ancient institutions have disappeared.

Five empires, a historian who visited Alberta last year, Professor Coupland, reminds us, were involved in the war; only the British survived it. And in the ensuing years of disillusionment and discontent, while other great countries have plunged into revolution and tearing up the foundation of their pre-war civic life, have acquired a new order at the price of freedom, the British Empire has also changed; has also adapted itself to the post-war age, but by the great process of discussion and agreement and law-making not by violence; by enlarging, not destroying its old freedoms; by evolution not by revolution.

The spectacle has been as unexpected as it has been soul-stirring.

It was made possible only through the existence of a monarchy firmly rooted in the affections of those owing it allegiance and through the maintenance of its first traditions by the king to whom we are about to pay tribute that he has so well earned.

Nothing could be clearer than that, with the attainment of the full rights of self-government by the dominions, there could be no hope of any permanent degree of unity among the British nations without the link that a common sovereignty constitutes. His Majesty means quite as much to those scattered throughout the Empire over the seven seas as to those at his heart. In him and in his representatives there rests an ultimate authority that transcends all political differences and that, whatever may be the outcome of party struggles, assures stability. That is why the British Commonwealth has come through the time of test in a manner that contrasts so strongly with the experience of most of the rest of the world.

Never was there so powerful an illustration of the steady and unifying influence that the British Crown exerts than when the Labor party first secured a parliamentary majority at Westminster and took over the responsibilities of office. That was an immense political change in some respects but the country proceeded on the even tenor of its way. So far as the King was concerned it was a case simply of a new set of servants taking the place of the old. Some time after the Labor administration had been installed, the wife of the chancellor of the exchequer, Mrs. Snowden, wrote an article in which she emphasized that

His Majesty had not given the slightest indication of regarding his new government as differing, from the standpoint of the constitution, in any way from his predecessors. He had co-operated with the ministers as loyally as they with him.

The smoothness, she told her readers, with which the Labor government was formed and with which its course has run is a wonderful example of the adaptability of the British constitution. That constitution, broadening down from precedent to precedent, has proved itself capable of entrusting the government of the country, with the co-operation of the King to men who have no claims to high office on the grounds of birth, class or academic distinction but whose claims rest upon personal merit, public service and the free choice of a democratic people.

This is only one though a particularly striking example of how the monarchy stands above all parties and represents the strength and authority of the state itself. Even if it were only a symbol—and it has all along been much more than that in times of emergency—who would for a moment think of parting with it?

To British subjects everywhere it is cause for the most profound thankfulness that there has been on the throne during these twenty-five critical years a man of the character of King George the Fifth. To him and to his royal consort, to whom "a thousand calms of reverence as mother, wife and queen, are due, loyal greetings, that are far removed from mere formality and that come from the very heart, will be extended.

ed from all parts of the empire and by none with greater sincerity than by Canadians. Long life and happiness to Their Majesties!

JUBILEE DAY IN LACOMBE

Dear Editor:

As a patriotic Britisher, I wish to express my regret that the committee in charge of the proposed celebration of the King's Jubilee Monday did not see its way clear to at least let the younger children of the community have some token of the great event to keep in their memories. True, the day was not very suitable for outside sports, but it would have been a nice gesture to have given them an ice cream cone, or some other trifle on the occasion. Children walked in for miles from the country expecting something they did not get, and they will remember with feelings far from joy, Jubilee Day in Lacombe. I noticed a football game in progress on the grounds on Monday afternoon, and the players were not badly handicapped by the weather. In the other towns along the line which were handicapped by the weather, the children were treated to ice cream and picture shows, while the majority of them succeeded in lighting their bonfires. The dance and card parties were also called off from some reason unknown, and parties coming in from the country, were greatly disappointed. Surely the weather did not affect these events.

Why the salute of honor to our King was not featured is a deep mystery. The weather at night was clear enough to fire the rockets, and it would not have been a strenuous piece of work to start the bonfire—Ed Deer, Sylvie Loken and other nearby communities were able to do it.

"Jubilee Day" cannot be celebrated on any other day—might as well try to celebrate Christmas on the first of July. I note from your last issue that a committee numbering eighteen was selected to look after the celebration, which fact makes me think that the gentlemen who said that "the most efficient committee should consist of three members—two of them laid up in bed ill."

School Festival Tues. May 14

Tuesday, May 14 sees the second annual final school festival of the Red Deer Inspectorate which will be held in Lacombe School commencing at 9 a.m.

The competitions will continue through the day and will be brought to a climax with a Grand Concert which will be held in the United Church at 8 p.m. This concert will be one that no lover of music and drama can afford to miss as it will feature the winners of each class of the festival.

The committee in charge are fortunate to have secured adjudicators of recognized ability and wide experience in the work for the day. Mr. Vernon Barford and Madam J. J. Duggan both of Edmonton will handle the musical section while Mrs. E. W. Cornsack of Alton and Mr. Theodore Cohen of Edmonton will adjudicate the expression and dramatization sections.

Owing to the heavy expenses involved it has been found necessary to make a charge of 10c. for spectators to enter each of the morning and afternoon competitions. The admission to the Grand Concert in the evening will be 50c. for adults and 25c. for children.

with and 25c. for students. It is to be hoped that the residents of Lacombe and district as well as those visiting the town for the day will support this concert as it is the only means of financial support that the association has.

JUBILEE CELEBRATION
It is very regrettable that the weather conditions on May 6th made it necessary for the Committee in charge of the celebration to postpone them for a more auspicious day. It was felt that very few of the country children or adults could possibly get to town, and since they are part of our community it did not seem quite right that they should not have the opportunity to be present on an occasion so important.

The same program will be carried out in the near future probably May 9th. Watch for further announcements in The Western Globe.

GOLF NOTES
In spite of the cold weather, quite a number of golfers are seen making the rounds on the local golf course every evening. The course is in excellent shape for this time of year and with a little more favorable weather will be in perfect condition. Many of the improvements started last season will be completed this year, and some new ones will be started, such as putting mats on some of the driving platforms. A new system of mowing the greens, which has been very successful in other clubs will be tried out this year. When approaching the green you will find it in good condition so that you can play out your hole, then you must putt out the marks you have made on the green, and leave it in shape for your next player. If you take care not to walk over the green more than necessary you will find a few strokes of the mow will put the green into condition again, and thus give us better greens with less mowing. It is hoped that all players will follow this procedure and by so doing make this system a success.

This season on paying your fees to the Secretary, Mr. G. T. Jackson, you will be given a metal tag, in place of the usual membership card. This tag is to be attached to your golf bag and will give you the privilege of playing on both the Lacombe and Red Deer golf course any time this season without additional cost. All old members and any new ones wishing to join, should get in touch with the Secretary as soon as possible.
CITIZEN LOSES BROTHER
-High River, Times
There passed away at the High River hospital on April 17th, William Parker, aged 59 years, 8 months. He was a brother of Abe Parker, of Lacombe District. Funeral services were conducted from the United Church before a large concourse of friends and neighbors, by Rev. A. Rennie, and interment was made in Highwood cemetery.
The deceased who had been a well known citizen of High River for the past 28 years, was held in deep respect by all who knew him, and his unfailing friendliness and spirit of helpfulness endeared him to all. He became a member of the former Methodist church in early life, held many offices in that connection, and had been an Elder in the United Church since Union. Mr. Parker was always interested in the young people and for many years had been an officer in the Sunday school, rarely being absent from his post on Sundays.

He was a man of many sterling qualities of fine Christian character, a kind father and loving husband, the entire community will miss him as he was ever ready with a kind word and a helping hand to all whom he could serve. The Church, Session, Board and Sunday school, will miss his wise counsel and quiet, efficient service, and the congregation will miss his genial smile and hearty handshake, so spontaneous and helpful.

Most of all will he be missed in the home circle, where he was ever the true Christian husband and kind father, no sacrifice being too great to provide comfort and bring happiness to his loved ones, which he was able to do in great measure.
There are left to mourn his passing the aged mother and brother Robert, living on the old homestead at Pakenham, Ont.; one sister, Mrs. Susie Fraser, of Montreal; brother George of Arnprior; two brothers in Alberta, Ben of Calgary, and Abe of Lacombe; and the surviving widow and three grown-up daughters, Meta of Coaldale, Eunice and Alma at home, who have the sincere sympathy of the entire community as evidenced by the very many beautiful floral tributes and large assemblage.

Dominion Botanist Makes Plea For Botanical Gardens To Study Wealth Of Plant Life In Canada

Canada's need for botanical gardens in which to assemble and to study her great wealth of plant resources as well as plant wealth from other parts of the globe, was discussed recently by Dr. H. T. Gussow, Dominion botanist, in lecture theatre B, University of Manitoba. This need was first voiced in February, 1886, by the late Dr. William Saunders, who said: "It has long been a reflection on Canadian taste and progress that we have not botanical gardens in the Dominion. In Australia, and India are several such gardens, supported by the government. Botanic gardens have also long been established in Ceylon, the Mauritius, Jamaica, and several others of the West Indies. Canada is indeed the only important British colony where such an institution is wanting." In 1935 it is still wanting, but urgently needed, it was shown by Dr. Gussow.

Briefly defined by Dr. Gussow, a botanical garden serves as a centre for all branches of the study of plants, and fosters, insofar as possible, the practical application of the knowledge obtained by its workers, to economic, medical and industrial problems. It aims at making representation of as many families of plants as possible or of characteristic orders and biologically interesting species. It is a living museum, and a place for rest and reflection. It is not a sports ground, nor an amusement park, though its beauties may delight the eyes and stimulate aesthetic and intellectual life, as does an art gallery or a museum.

The drawing power of botanical gardens is indicated by a reference to Kew botanical gardens—the world's most famous sample of this type of garden, in an annual attendance of 2,000,000 persons, many of whom are scientists and students from all parts of the world. Occupying 300 acres and equipped with a herbarium of two million specimens of plants and a library, Kew gardens serve all the world.

Discovered In Transvaal

Fourth Largest Diamond In World May Go To U.S.

An unnamed American is understood to have offered $500,000 for the famous Jonker diamond, the world's fourth largest stone, weighing 176 carats. It is the size of a hen's egg.

The offer is accepted by the Diamond Corporation, the present owner, the stone, it is reported, will be cut into several smaller diamonds to form an arrangement of ear drops and necklace.

The stone was discovered in January, 1934, by a native digging on a claim owned by Jacobus Jonker in Elandfontein, Transvaal, Africa. Jonker sold it a few days later to Sir Ernest Oppenheimer, chairman of the Diamond Corporation, for a reported price of $375,000.

Jonker had been digging for eighteen years and was about to forsake his claim. His wife urged him on, and the next day his assistant, washing a bucket of earth and gravel, cried, "I found it."

After selling the diamond, Jonker enjoyed a unique scheme to make good use of his wealth. He set aside $300 ($1,000) a year for his family and decided to buy land with the remainder to give poor whites a start in life. He believes that within 30 years at least white persons will be living independently on farms he is buying them.

Since its arrival in London, the diamond, which has a rare "extra-blue-white" purity, has been hidden in the Diamond Corporation's vaults. It costs $18,500 a year interest on the investment and insurance.

Coal Used By Railways

Canadian Coal Cost C.N.R. A Million A Year More Than American Coal

The excess cost to the Canadian National Railways of purchasing Canadian coal in preference to coal from the United States at times reached as much as $1,000,000 a year. S. W. Fairweather, railway official, told the house committee on railways.

The Canadian Pacific bought more Alberta coal than the C.N.R., but the C.N.R. had purchased 1,529,000 tons of maritime coal last year. In western Canada its purchases amounted to 895,000 tons.

Unlike many fruits that have been almost "made over" by cultivation, the cultivated cranberry is not greatly different from the native or wild plant.

Only 10,953,159 bushels of foreign wheat entered France in 1934. Of that amount Canada supplied 9,606,530 bushels.

Safeguarding Loans

Loans Under Canadian Farm Board Discussed By Senate Committee

An amendment safeguarding loans on farm property from the Dominion treasury under the Canadian farm loan board from provincial legislation giving priorities to other obligations was approved by the senate banking and commerce committee.

With many amendments to the bill as received from the House of Commons, the measure will be reported soon to the senate. Concurrence of the commons in the changes, though, will have to be obtained after it gets through third reading in the upper chamber. One of the main amendments by the committee in its two weeks' consideration was to reduce the maximum amount for mortgages to individual farmers from $7,500 to $5,000.

War-Time Profiteering

United States House Of Representatives Would Curb Causes Of War

A bill to forbid war-time profiteering received the overwhelming approval of the United States house of representatives.

Shortly after the house had acted, new measures aimed at curbing causes of war were introduced in the senate. They were contained in resolutions authorizing the president to restrict the issuance of passports to nationals seeking to enter war zones and clamping restrictions on loans by United States citizens to belligerent nations.

The war profits measure was sent by the house to the senate.

Man Plans Best Kitchen

Model Was Given First Place Among 20,000 Entries

A man won the national $5,000 competition organized by the British Commercial Gas Association against 20,000 women. The competition was the planning of a modern labor-saving kitchen, and the winner, Anthony Trew, a retired architect of Poole, is 75 years of age. The second prize, $1,000, was divided between Miss Elliott Douglas, of Kelso, Roxburghshire, and Mrs. N. Collins, of Stoke-on-Trent.

Mr. Trew explains he made cardboard scale models of the ground plan of the kitchen and cut out cards to represent the space for the various fittings. From several plans he selected his prize-winning one.

Was Nemesis Of Spies

Detective Who Was Active During War Dies In London

Henry T. Fitch, 58, former Scotland Yard detective, whose duties as personal bodyguard to the late King Edward at the turn of the century brought him the nickname, King's Shadow, died suddenly in London.

Fitch was active in tracking down spies during the Great War and also played a part in tracing the "master German spy", Steinbauer, who operated in London shortly before the war.

In his book, "Traitors Within," Fitch recounted other anti-espionage work on Great Britain's east coast during the war in the course of which several spies were captured and five of them later executed.

The book also recounts how Fitch disguised himself as a waiter in a Soho cafe, served Lenin and Trotsky and obtained valuable documents by "accidentally" knocking a bundle of papers to the floor.

Russia's Cheap Airplane

Is Only Suitable For Touring And Training Purposes

Russian experts, after long experimentation, announced the development of an aeroplane powered by an ordinary light automobile engine. The engine is the type manufactured in great quantities by the Gorky motor factory.

The new plane is a two-seater which operates on ordinary auto gasoline. Inasmuch as it attains a speed of only 70 miles an hour its chief value aside from touring, is for training purposes.

Only a small fraction of one per cent. of all the millions of pieces of mail handled annually is lost.

It is the unusual, "candid" picture that attracts attention.

"Candid photography." What is it? Just this. It is one of the most fascinating branches of amateur photography and furthermore is fast becoming one of the most popular sports with those who wish to glorify their snapshot collections with unusual, out-of-the-ordinary type of pictures.

For essence of candid photography is a first cousin to big game hunting or deep-sea fishing but you need not go to the wilds of the Congo or off the coast of Florida to stalk your quarry. You will find plenty of material to shoot right in your old home town.

You may still say, "Well, what is this candid photography?" Candid photography is nothing more nor less than taking pictures of people when they are unaware that they are about to be "shot" so, therefore, you catch them in natural, unposed positions with natural expressions. It might be called "intimate" photography—informal snapshots.

The essence of candid photography is action. Get pictures of people doing things. Such pictures would be the closest to the subject as possible, for we are usually featuring people in this type of photography and they should be predominating in the picture.

When we speak of snapping people in "action" or "doing something" it does not necessarily mean that the person should be actually on person at a snap may make a great candid camera picture. He is doing something.

Modelled After Mounties

Newfoundland May Soon Have New "Red Coat" Force

A force of rangers modelled after the Royal Canadian Mounted Police will be formed by the Newfoundland commission government as soon as approval is given by the Dominion office in London.

Consisting of 52 men at the start, the force will set up 18 posts on the island and five in Labrador, and for some time to come they will have to go through the pioneer work carried on in Canada by the Royal North-West Mounted Police before the larger Canadian force was organized.

A chief ranger, one inspector, six sergeants, six corporals and 37 rangers will be assigned to the task of patrolling Newfoundland, outside the Avalon Peninsula, and the great little known hinterland.

Aeroplanes, automobiles, motor boats, horses and dog teams will be "mounted" as they carry on not only police work but "administrative" activities in connection with customs, relief and protection of forests and game.

Czecho-Slovakian Firm Is Negotiating For Large Purchase

Hugo Jellinek, chief of the purchasing department of Bata, Inc., Czecho-Slovakian shoe and leather manufacturing firm, said he was negotiating for purchase of about $1,000,000 worth of Canadian furs, hides and fish oil.

Jellinek also said his firm was considering buying a large amount of Canadian pulp. He will confer regarding his company's needs with officials of the department of trade and commerce.

Putting It In Figures

Expert Helps Us To Realize Destructiveness Of Dust Storms

If the reader happens to have wondered idly how much earth was moved in the recent dust storm in the Western States, of which reports have been appearing in press despatches, he might be interested in the estimate made by an expert of Kansas State College.

According to this expert, if a 96 mile line of 1 1/2 ton trucks could be put to work hauling 10 loads each per day, it would take them a year to haul back to Western Kansas the dirt that was blown over to the eastern section of the State. Altogether, he figures, there would be 46,500,000 truckloads to be moved.

Putting the situation in this form helps one to realize the terrible destructiveness of a dust storm. It is not necessary to have very much imagination to understand that a large quantity of good farm land must have been ruined to provide all those millions of truckloads of dust.

GARDENING

Gordon L. Smith

Early Stuff

With May almost here, it should be fairly safe to try a few rows of those vegetables which are not usually sown until later. If frost does come along, there is a small loss on the ground can be used over again. However, if the stuff pulls through there is the satisfaction of having from one's own garden vegetables unusually early. Beans, potatoes, corn, tomato and a few of the other tender and semi-tender vegetables can be treated in this way. With hand sorts like spinach, radish and lettuce, one can make the first sowings just as soon as the ground is fit to work. Frost may hold them back but it will not hurt them. Handle the end of the planting season in the same way, that is make a sowings of the stuff just before the planting so that there will be stuff coming along weeks after the main crop has been picked.

Gardening With Rocks

A few years ago a steep bank at the end of the lawn was regarded as a distinct handicap. Grass and ordinary flowers could not survive spring downpours. About the only solution was large trees and in front of these a screen of shrubbery or rock garden. Now, however, the bank is a garden of rock and often where no bank could be made by artificial and expensive means. This is not to be confused with the old stiff rock garden, which is a thing of the past. In the kind advocated here, boulders are set into the side of the hill, embedded so deep that frost will not seriously disturb them in such a way that the soil between will lead back into the main bank. Between the rocks are planted plants of various kinds, including alpine plants, meadow, crabs and steep canyons. Seed catalogues usually list alpine plants in a separate section. It is most important to secure seeds and plants suitable to Canadian conditions. It is also advisable to get special literature on the subject, or visit a neighboring rock garden, before attempting to elaborate a layout.

Use The Catalogue

A good seed catalogue is indispensable. Height of the flowers, times of blooming, whether they are suitable for special purposes as edging, screening, cutting and fragrance are all mentioned and are vital facts in laying out a satisfactory garden. In the vegetable line the catalogue continues this useful service by listing different varieties under the heading of early, late and medium, so that a succession of vegetables is possible right through the season. With unusual sorts special directions are given in regard to care and preparation for the table.

Superstition In China

Laborers Reported To Have Made Human Sacrifices To Spirits

Superstitions which have persisted for centuries among South China farmers caused an enraged band to murder 10 railroad workers and kidnap 45 others. The crime followed fantastic reports that laborers had made human sacrifices of local residents to assuage the spirits who lived underground, and to insure propitious weather for their work.

The fate of the 45 abducted workers is still unknown and fears have been expressed for their lives.

Reports were current recently in the Lianyung district, southwest of Honan, that railroad construction workers on the line between Canton and Hankow, near Choukouan, had killed several of the inhabitants in order to offer their blood as a sacrifice to the underground spirits.

Cooking Under Water

An Englishman once undertook to cook a pudding at the bottom of the Thames. His friends declared it was impossible. But he proved them wrong by putting the pudding in a tin, then packing the tin into a sack full of lime, and lowering the sack into the river.

After three hours it was drawn up again, and it was found that the heat generated by the sinking of the lime, had cooked the pudding.

Contrary to the popular opinion that elephants never forget, it has been found that they do.

C.G.I.T. BANQUET

Celebrating their twentieth anniversary, C.G.I.T. girls and their mothers held their annual banquet on Saturday evening. Taking as their theme "Twenty years of Growing," we thank thee for landmarks passed and new vistas opening ahead, the girl of today, Kae Hay, paid a warm tribute to the mothers. Mrs. Ray Saunders, the girl of yesterday, responded, pointing out the greater advantages enjoyed by the girl of today. Rev. R. B. Layton stressed the opportunities open to the girls of tomorrow, and the future importance of building their vital homes on a sound foundation. An interesting skit showing the coming and development of C.G.I.T. was much enjoyed. Camp experiences by Louise Todd and group projects by Eleanor Troik were interestingly described, and Margaret MacLean spoke feelingly on what the C.G.I.T. means to its members. Vocal solos by Vivian Parsons and Kae Craigen won hearty applause. Perhaps the highlight of the program was a humorous recumbent by Mrs. A. A. Gilmore, the first C.G.I.T. Work, which had developed from the four-fold life to the wider vision of a girl's life in its relation to home, school, church, and community. An impressive candle lighting ceremony closed the program.

WOMEN'S INSTITUTE

Juvenile Delinquency, its alarming increase, and the deplorable ignorance of a large majority of parents concerning their children's activities were topics presented by Magistrate Edwin H. Jones, to members of the Women's Institute at their regular meeting held at the home of Mrs. Ray Saunders on Saturday, May 4th. Mr. Jones stated that offenses of both a criminal and moral nature were just as frequent among the English speaking population of his jurisdiction as among the foreign element, and that there is scarcely a sitting that he has not one or more such cases to deal with. Immorality among children, he felt was the greater danger inasmuch as not only the bodies, but the souls of the children were being destroyed, and if such offenses continued increasing at their present rate the time would soon come when the majority of boys would be criminals and the girls prostitutes. Parents, school teachers and Sunday school teachers ought all to be on the alert to direct children's thoughts and activities into clean and wholesome channels of living. Mr. Jones was tendered a hearty vote of thanks. Members agreed to meet at the home of Mrs. C. E. Todd on Wednesday to make some garments for a Baby bundle, which will be placed where needed. Answering Bell Call with gardening hints, Mrs. Val Redig advocated planting root vegetables now for the growing of seed.

FAIRVIEW DOIN'S

We listened to another very good sermon on Sunday last, here at this Church. All those who were not here were certainly the losers. Easter comes next Sunday as it is Mother's Day and we are expecting to have an appropriate program. Also Sunday School will start next Sunday, May 12. One day last week a number of people at the Church and gave it a thorough cleaning, including such items as washing the ceiling, scrubbing the floor and the removal of two musical mice from the inside of the piano. We had a good pianist on Sunday evening if we did have to borrow her from Lacombe. The Weather Man showed us last week that he could pull off a snow storm whenever he liked, but the moisture was as welcome as a husband to an old maid. It was dry enough however that several were again seeding on Friday and Saturday. The reads out our way are getting pretty well dried up again. Mr. and Mrs. Chessor and family were visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Brown on Sunday and were also in attendance at Church services at 3 p.m. We understand that a newly married couple has moved in not very far away. Better see to it boys that they are properly welcomed before you give them the pass-word.
